Ft. Lauderdale - Paul Ryan, Managing Partner of Executive impact Group (EiG), a business advisory, analysis and technology services firm, has been selected as a professional test development advisor of ReviewNet (reviewnet.net), a company which provides solutions that help companies recruit, interview and test personnel in a wide variety of technologies. ReviewNet clients include such companies as Ernst & Young and Microsoft.

"I am honored to be selected as a ReviewNet team member so I can help organizations select the best employees in the field of information technology", commented Paul Ryan.

EiG, with offices in Ft. Lauderdale and San Francisco, provides management advisory, executive coaching, business analysis, and strategy development services for biotech, healthcare, and technology industries.
